GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Welcome to Parnell.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—About 8000 people assembled at Madison Square Garden to-night to tender a public welcome to Charles Stewart Parnell. The gathering was a mixed one. The platform from which the speakers were to address the audience had on it seats arranged for about 100 people. It was clearly evident that the voices of the speakers could only be heard half the length of the garden, but many had come merely to see the great agitator. The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That Mr. Charles Stewart Parnell and Mr. John Dillon are deserving our earnest gratitude and unqualified confidence; that the sacrifices they have made and the peril they have encountered in coming to this prosperous land to plead the cause of a suffering nation, are entitled to a generous and practical recognition and response, and that promises made by the United States in our welcome address should be our pride as well as our duty to redeem.

Second—That we give to our suffering brothers in Ireland our heartfelt sympathies in these days of their great distress, and while giving them sympathy we would counsel the hope for better days, which in God's good time will assuredly come.

Third—That while relief of the immediate suffering has a claim upon our immediate assistance, we cannot overlook the fact that the system which produces this suffering needs change; that money for the purchase of food, fuel and raiment for the starving poor are needed at once, and that besides and beside this primary call, funds are needed to strengthen the hands of the Irish Land League in its struggle against landlord monopoly, and [illegible] we suggest to the generous public [illegible] while remembering the pressing claims presented for relief, there is an obligation to aid in the prevention of the recurrence of such [illegible] and this latter can only be effected by that [illegible] of the land tenure of Ireland [illegible] by the Irish league.

[illegible]—That subscription lists be at once opened, [illegible] committee, secretaries and treasurers be [illegible], and that a formal and earnest appeal [illegible] the grand achievement of giving this [illegible] people a living in their own land, reach[illegible] giving utterance to the words of [illegible] on his arrival of giving Ireland a [illegible] the nations of the earth; in other [illegible] Ireland for the Irish and the Irish for Ireland.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Parnell's reception to-night was a success. Eight thousand [illegible] present. The net receipts were [illegible]. He gave a graphic description of the [illegible] of Ireland. He stated that destitution was growing, and appealed to the people of America for substantial aid.

[illegible], Jan. 5.—There was a decided [illegible] wheat market this afternoon of [illegible] owing to a rumor on 'change [illegible] Bank of California had failed. No[illegible] able to say where the rumor [illegible] prices at the close were the [illegible] the day it is probable that some [illegible] been pretty thoroughly shaken [illegible]. Aside from distressing rumors [illegible], however, it is natural that the [illegible] occur, as the prices are above all surrounding markets, including Liverpool and Milwaukie.

[illegible], Jan. 5.—The republican assembly unanimously nominated Gen. Geo. [illegible] for speaker. [illegible] democratic assembly caucus nominated [illegible] for speaker.

Talifarraro acknowledges [illegible] but says it will be made good [illegible]. He says he does not know [illegible] account for it, except from the fact [illegible] engaged in commission business [illegible] being agent for the penitentiary [illegible] the affairs of both concerns became [illegible]

Heavy Forgeries.

[illegible], Jan. 5.—J. Lloyd Haigh, in[illegible] for forgery in connection with [illegible] of the Grocers' bank, was locked [illegible] Tombs. The forged acceptances of [illegible] amount to about $100,000. It is [illegible] that this is not the first time that [illegible] forged papers. He did so, it is al[illegible] before, when he made good the [illegible] and no proceedings were taken [illegible]. One of his heaviest creditors is [illegible] Anderson & Co., manufacturers [illegible] and steel, at Pittsburg. The indictment [illegible] against him by the grand jury [illegible] that on the 20th of August, 1871, he [illegible] bill of exchange for $3600, drawn by [illegible] and purporting to be accepted by C. The workmen were in their [illegible] places when, from an unknown [illegible] part of the celluloid, which is a highly [illegible] material, suddenly exploded, [illegible] a one-story brick building with all [illegible]

Tilden and Third Term.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The Sun prints the following double leaded: "Tilden does not hesitate always. He has very positive convictions about the danger of a third term. He spoke like a patriot when he said: 'It is the duty of every sincere lover of republican institutions to oppose the re-election of Grant. For my part,' he continued, 'I will do everything I can to secure the election of the man who may be agreed upon by the opponents of the third-term conspiracy as the best candidate to unite the conservative elements of all parties. If a third term can be conferred upon Grant a fourth and fifth will be. In short, Grant's instalment in the White House in 1881 means empire!'"

Negligence.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Jan. 6.—The locomotive and four freight cars of a train on the Long Branch Railroad fell through a 50 foot draw at Woodbridge this morning. The wreck took fire and six cars of the train were burned. The engineer was slightly hurt. The draw of the bridge had been left open.

Freights and Markets.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—A cold rain storm prevented business being done at any of the clipper ships. The Columbus hauled into the stream this morning. Tonnage continues to accumulate at this port, but there is a scarcity of vessels suitable for the California trade, and all lines will require vessels in a short time. Vessels for coal are also wanted, but the owners of such vessels here are rather above the views of the agents. The markets continue slow. Breadstuffs have been unusually depressed, flour being 10c@15c, wheat, 2c@2½c lower; barley, dull and steady; pork, neglected, at $12 50; lard, dull, 5c lower; Rio coffee, quiet, but very firm; refined sugars continue in good request and firm; teas, show better demand and steady prices; hides quiet, prices have a weakened tendency, California, 25; turpentine, quiet, prices still on the upward turn, closing, 54½@55; rosin, better demand, strong; petroleum, dull, crude whale and sperm oils held firmly, but quiet.

WASHINGTON CITY.

An Oregon Case.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The following is one of the cases decided in the supreme court to-day: Lydia C. Hill, widow, etc., et al. plaintiffs; appeal from the district court of the United States for the district of Oregon. The question presented by this case is whether the heirs of a settler under the Oregon donation act who died before the expiration of the four years' residence and cultivation required to perfect his title, took by descent from the settler as donee and of the United States. The court holds that the heirs took as donee and of the United States; that when the settler died before completing his title he had nothing in the land which he could transmit to his descendants. The decree is affirmed, with costs. The chief justice delivered the opinion.

Cases Cannot be Advanced.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Chief Justice Waite to-day announced that hereafter the court would refuse to advance on the docket cases involving important constitutional points until they can be heard by a full bench. This decision may be taken, perhaps, as an indication that the court already finds itself evenly divided upon political and constitutional question, presented in the state rights and federal election law cases from Virginia, Tennessee, Ohio and Maryland, now pending for decision, and that it wishes to postpone if possible until Justice Hunt's seat shall be filled, the consideration of any more questions upon which its component members are likely to stand 4 against 4, and of which therefore the only decision possible would be an affirmative by a divided court. Among the cases which the court to-day refused to advance was that commonly known as the legal tender. The refusal to advance does not, however, necessarily postpone its consideration as by mutual agreement parties may forego argument and bring it before the court any time. It is doubtful, however, if consent in this case will do. This case will likely be dropped until Justice Hunt's place is filled.

Arkansas Canyon.

After a sharp struggle about the Arkansas canyon, the case came before the U. S. supreme court to-day, between Denver and Rio Grande R. R. Co., and Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe R. R. Co. The former company succeeded in getting an early day appointed for hearing their application for a mandamus to compel Judge Hallett to execute a decree of the supreme court of last April, without the condition of the payment for the work done by the Atchison Co., or any other condition whatever. A certified copy of Judge Hallett's decree is expected to arrive by the day fixed for the hearing.

Motion Denied.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Chief Justice Waite announced this evening the decision of the U. S. supreme court upon the motion recently made by Senator Edmunds to advance the case of Augustus D. Juillard against Thos. S. Greenman, generally known as a legal tender case, which now stands No. 779 on the calendar. The motion was denied. The chief justice said the court would refuse to grant all motions to advance the cases involving important constitutional questions so long as they could not be heard before a full bench.

An Army Case.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—The Journal's Washington special says: Judge Richardson to-day decided an important army case in the court of claims, involving the question whether the president has a right to reinstate an army officer, congress having authorized him to do so, without advice and consent of the senate. Congress passed a particular act authorizing the president to do so in the case of Major J. B. Collins, and the president ordered him to be reinstated, March 8, 1878, and also ordered him to be retired on that grade. The treasury officer, however, refused to allow him to draw his pay, whereupon suit was brought. The court says two important questions are involved, whether the act of congress intended to convey to the president alone the power to reinstate Collins, and whether it had the constitutional right to do so. It answers these questions in the affirmative and decides that Collins' appointment was legal and constitutional and that he is entitled to the pay.

Opposition to Grant.

Another Washington special says Ex-Senator Henderson of Missouri, who is spending a fortnight here, is interesting himself in the anti-Grant movement, and he and others who took part in the Fifth avenue conference four years ago are going to try to initiate another scheme for opposing Grant within the republican party. Strong efforts are making to induce Bristow and Schurz to come out squarely and in a public manner in opposition to the renomination of Grant. Henderson, like Schurz and Halstead, is in favor of the nomination of Sherman and thinks if Grant men can be convinced that Grant will lose the entire German vote if nominated, they will not insist on his nomination. Henderson's views will soon be given.

Utes for Washington.

Secretary Schurz to-day received the following:

ALAMOSA, Col., Jan. 4.
Adams arrived last night. He advises that all the Indians will be taken to Washington immediately on his arrival here.
HATCH, Comr.

To be Reopened.

The house committee on commerce this morning agreed to reopen the discussion upon the inter-state commerce bill, and at the request of several leading railroads will give them a hearing, commencing Tuesday next.

Wanted to Take his Wife.

Secretary Schurz to-day received a dispatch from Gen. Hatch saying that Ouray desired to bring his wife with him to Washington, and inquiring whether the request should be granted. The secretary replied in the affirmative.

John S. Morton.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The Times' Washington special says: John S. Morton, son of the late Senator Morton and now consul at Honolulu, will be appointed collector of customs at San Francisco. The confirmation of Morton, it is said, will be opposed by Senator Booth on the ground that he has never in fact been a resident of California.

The Louisiana Statesman.

Madison Wells' term of office as surveyor of customs soon expires and he will come here to request the president to reappoint him. This Hayes will not do, as his confirmation would be impossible. Pinchback will probably be appointed.

BETTER FEELING.

The Maine Matter Drawing to a Close—The Probable Result of the Affair—The Republicans Come Out First Best.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

AUGUSTA, Jan. 5.—It is reported that telegrams are received in large numbers from democrats beyond the state urging submission to the opinion of the supreme court.

Maj.-Gen. Chamberlain came to the city last evening, being summoned by the governor.

The legislative caucus will be held to-morrow evening.

The republicans will probably nominate James A. Locke, of Cumberland, for president of the senate and George E. Weeks, of Augusta, speaker of the house. The fusionists' prominent candidate for president is James A. Talbot, of Washington, and for speaker, Thomas Plaisted, of Lincoln.

The republican members held a meeting for consultation this evening, which was largely attended, and the feeling was confidently expressed that the verdict of the court had made them masters of the situation; that a sufficient number of those certified, but not elected, will refuse to act and prevent a quorum assembling until the rightful members are admitted to their seats. A committee was appointed for a future line of action. The following resolution was unanimously passed:

Resolved, That the committee on order of business, just appointed, are hereby instructed to call upon Gov. Garcelon at the earliest practicable moment to insist that the armed men and munitions of war now in the state house shall be promptly removed, in order that a free legislature of free people may meet, as they always met in the state of Maine, under the protection of law and not under intimidation of force.

A petition will be presented to the governor and council to-morrow by the Portland representatives elected, setting forth that they have not been summoned to attend the session of the legislature, although legally elected, and praying that such summons issue, as the law requires. A similar petition will be presented by the Bath delegation. It is reliably stated that the fusionists claim that 70 is a quorum in the house, on the ground that but 139 were counted in. The republicans have issued circulars declaring that the position is not legal, and against the recent decision of the court. They state that the fusionists will endeavor to compel the attendance of members sufficient to make a quorum, but that a whole house, when fully organized, has no power to send for a representative elect until he is sworn in.

Governor Garcelon states the decision of the court will not change his attitude toward the incoming legislature. The points in the opinion might serve as a guide in the future, but his work had been performed under the constitution and statutes as he understood them, and he should neither withdraw the certificates nor issue new ones. Here and there may be found a dissenting voice to this position of the governor, but in the main it has the approval of the mass of the fusionists.

A caucus of fusionists was held this evening, continuing till late. The house was presided over by F. W. Hill, of Exeter, a counted in member. Speeches were made on the condition of affairs, proclaiming adhesion to the constitution and laws as they understood them. They held in respect the opinion of the court, and should it be found that they were in the majority in the legislature it should not be understood that they would ignore the right of the minority. The meeting was harmonious. A determination was expressed to go forward and organize the legislature according to certificates issued. Gen. Chamberlain was summoned to consult with the governor in regard to the necessity of employing military force on Wednesday. It was decided that no such force was needed, but that the police would be sufficient to preserve order. Admission to the state house on Wednesday will be by tickets issued to certificated members, contestants, state officers, heads of departments, reporters, etc.

More from Maine.

AUGUSTA, Jan. 6.—Petitions to admit the twelve counted-out members from Rockland, Bath, Saco, Portland and Lewiston were presented to the governor and council this forenoon, and the hearing appointed for this afternoon.

The attempt to influence Mr. Voter, of Farmington, counted in, to abandon his position of refusing the certificate has failed. He declines to participate in the proceedings of the legislature.

Sprout, of Veasie, was labored with on Monday, but still adheres to his determination to keep away from the legislature.

Three other fusion members are known positively to refuse certificates, and one or two are detained at home by sickness. The remainder are here, participating in the various caucuses, but it is not known whether all will take part in the organization.

Hobson the original senator from Lincoln says, he intends to do what is right and follow the greenback party. He will take his seat and immediately move for a committee to investigate the election in Lincoln county. While he thought the votes thrown for Andrew R. C. Smith and Andrew E. C. Smith were for the same person, he was satisfied he (Hobson) was entitled to his seat on the ground of fraud, intimidation and bribery.

Fifty extra men were placed in the state house this morning, about 10 o'clock. It is stated that one hundred more armed men will be placed there to-night.

Partially Organized.

Gen. Chamberlain announces a partial organization of the state militia. The headquarters of the first division are established in Augusta.

A Republican Scheme.

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—A Herald special from Augusta, Me., mentions rumors that the republicans intend to capture the state senate by arresting five senators.

More Quiet and Assuring.

AUGUSTA, Jan. 6.—Gen. Chamberlain has taken charge of the police force at the state house and guns from Bangor arsenal have been packed away in boxes.

Both parties hold their caucuses this evening.

Thomas L. Swan, democratic member elect of the house from Minot, has written a letter to the chairman of the democratic and greenback caucuses that he will not participate in the organization of the house until it shall fully determine to obey the mandate of the court.

MEXICO.

Revolution in Mexico.

RIO GRANDE CITY, Jan. 6.—Rumors of a revolution in the state of Durango, Mexico, reach here. The particulars, however, are meagre. Some time since Gen. Trevino was ordered from Monterey to suppress the insurrection in that state. News was received yesterday that he had been defeated by the revolutionists and was calling for assistance. All available troops at Monterey were sent to his aid. The government is raising troops at Mier by conscription. A young American from here was forced into the ranks despite his protest. He succeeded in escaping and arrived here last night. The general opinion is that this revolution will be general, as it is well planned, and understood throughout the greater part of Mexico, and will have gained immense proportions by the 1st of March. The Rio Grande border will witness no small part of this revolt.

UTAH.

Mormon Defiance.

SALT LAKE, Jan. 5.—The quarterly conference of the Salt Lake stake of the Mormon church was held in this city yesterday, and among the speakers were Apostles John Taylor and Joe F. Smith. In closing his remarks at the afternoon session John Taylor, in alluding to polygamy, said that it was ordained of God; that the United States could not stop it. No nation on earth could stop it. All the [illegible] earth could not stamp it out. He [illegible] the [illegible] the United States, and called upon the [illegible] saints to sustain him in his treason by raising their right hands. All hands went up, even women raising the hands of infants in their laps. Apostle Smith followed in a similar address couched in the same treasonable language.

SOUTH AFRICA.

Deposed and Fled.

PARIS, Jan. 6.—An official dispatch at the Chilean minister's office announces that Gen. Daza, president of the republic of Bolivia, has been deposed and fled.

Mosby and his Successor.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—It is understood that Mosby, consul at Hongkong, will be removed and the nomination of his successor will be made to the senate in a few days.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

A PRESIDENTIAL DIAGNOSIS.

[REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE TO THE OREGONIAN.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24, 1879.

If you want to know the views of politicians and officials, come to Washington but do not then conclude you have felt the popular pulse. Christmas holidays are valuable, inasmuch as they give congressmen a chance to go home and learn what their constituents think about public men and measures. Now, a large proportion of the politicians of this city favor Grant's renomination. After the holidays, returning congressmen will let in upon this official center some of the healthful air from the rural districts, and then there will be a sinking in the Grant boom. Among private citizens, I have found but little desire for Grant, and some have even irreverently declared that he should have closed his tour at Galena, and that if he prolongs it beyond Philadelphia, he practically announces himself a candidate for the presidency.

Evidently the Grant boom here has been industriously "worked up." There is no spontaneous enthusiasm about it. "He stands by his friends." That is the great encomium officials lavish upon him. They inwardly add: "We are his friends." Washington's whole basis is so much a matter of quid pro quo that selfishness dominates everything. If Grant be the next president, the "ins" think they are safe for another term, so until his star declines, this city will "boom" for Grant.

Cameron's success in securing the chairmanship of the national republican committee will be counted as a Grant triumph, but when it is understood how hard he labored for his barely-won victory, and how feeble were the efforts of his rivals, it will show anything but unanimity for Grant. Don Cameron's main desire was to prove that he was something more than the son of his father, and, in case of Grant's nomination, to secure the continuation of his honor for another four years. In a large degree, it was not so much Cameron seeking the position as the friends of Grant and Sherman seeking Cameron, whose large wealth and peculiar machine strength in Pennsylvania make him an element of power. Three Blaine men, of whom Mr. Scott was one, voted for Cameron because they thought his executive ability was needed in that position. The fact was a majority of the committee favored Blaine's nomination.

"Can Grant carry New York?" "O, yes; every northern state," shout his blatant adherents. The more thoughtful ones freely admit that Geo. Wm. Curtis and the "youthful scratchers" must be tenderly dealt with. It is claimed that their republicanism is stronger than their aversion to Conklingism, and though reluctantly, they will ultimately support Grant. Grant's election means a perpetuation of Conklingism for the next four years. Either the anti-Conkling men must fight Grant, or unresistingly yield to Conkling's arrogant domination. After four more years of strengthening of his position, can Conkling then be defeated? If resistance be meant, they might as well fight against their party in 1880 as in 1884.

The term youthful scratchers has much significance. Nearly all the men under 30 years of age have become voters since the termination of the war. It is unreasonable to expect their republicanism to be as ultra and sacrificing in its character as that of older men who felt the shame of slavery, and who, with ultimate grief and joy, followed the events of the war. To expect these young bolters, from love to their party, to wear the uniform of the tyrannical Conkling shows considerable hopefulness. How far the "liberals" of 1872 will oppose Grant, no one can prophecy, but that they and the German vote are unknown quantities, all must admit, and admitting, refrain from any sanguine anticipations of a republican triumph.

Grant out of the field and Blaine will loom up as the leading candidate. If his nomination be a safe one, he should be nominated, as he is undoubtedly the first choice of a large majority of the republicans of the nation. Hitherto, he has been holding back his forces, for his experience in 1876 taught him the danger of being the leading candidate. But now Grant's return to the field has put him on his mettle, and he is doing the best work of which he is capable. Some fear his nomination would put the party on the defensive and consume much valuable time in refuting those charges which lost him the nomination four years ago. His name would magnetize the young men of the party into such great activity as to more than neutralize any loss from the resurrection of exploded slanders.

But it is not to be concealed that Blaine's success in the state of New York admits of serious doubt. I do not refer to the fact that nowhere do the Germans regard his candidacy with much favor, but to that greater peril—the selfish pride of Roscoe Conkling. He and his friends would be mere ciphers in Blaine's administration. Will they consent to be such? If, through their default, the democrats win the national victory, they might feel just as much at home with them and count on as many favors as under Blaine. Conkling maintains his antipathy to Blaine. Though the latter generously stood by him in his struggle with the president over the New York appointments yet, afterwards when the former was compelled to notice a remark of the latter, instead of referring to him as "the senator from Maine," he insulting said: "A remark has just fallen upon my ear which calls upon me to say, etc." In 1865, Blaine blurted out "Hyperion to a Satyr!" and so it is, and the Satyr has never forgiven him, and until "born again" can not forgive him. Between Blaine and a democrat, and openly and secretly, openly if need be, for, when desperate, he would have courage, Conkling will aid the democrat.

Conkling has not power enough of himself and his friends to win New York, but it may be doubted that the republicans can carry that state unless under his leadership. As in 1879, so in 1880, they may be willing to concede that leadership to him, provided his choice is not an insult to thousands in their ranks.

Sherman's hopes are subject to many variations. They fluctuate as do the gold market, on the which they are largely based. He has so little original strength, there is, even among his adherents in Ohio, so little enthusiasm, that I can hardly consider him a bona fide candidate. He is the official candidate, and his power works unseen, but can not work him into the nomination. The money influence of the country must come to his rescue. As that is manifest, he will lose the sympathy of the people. To please the former he must go so far toward the dishonoring of the greenback and silver, that he will alienate the latter. There is but one probability of his success; viz: combining with the forces of Blaine, when the friends of the latter become assured that Conkling will not allow their favorite to carry New York. Being assured that he should become the power behind the throne, Conkling might forgive Sherman for standing by the president. This is possible, but barely probable.

If Grant be not a candidate, and his highness, Lord Roscoe, will not allow New York to be carried either by Blaine or Sherman, then the "dark horse" will career to the front. Washburne's friends are looking to this contingency, and quietly working for his success. The trouble in his case is that he is not popular in his own state, and to secure an unbroken delegation therefrom will require much labor. His long absence from the political field, while it has kept him from many entanglements and mistakes and given him occasion to secure much favor with the Germans, has made him a comparative stranger, especially in the south. His lack of [illegible] popularity will prevent him from getting much help from the newspaper fraternity in the west. His reputation as the "watch dog of the treasury" will furnish a fine political Shibboleth, but those qualifications that justly won him that title are not calculated to attract persons to him.

The other "dark horse," Senator Windom, keeps very dark upon the subject. He says it is not always easy for a public man to restrain the ardor of his friends, but he is entirely unaware that any considerable portion of the American people are clamoring for his elevation to the presidency. One of his friends told him he was treating the subject with too much indifference, to which he replied: "While I am by no means insensible to the honor of a respectful mention of my name in that high connection, yet I have seen so many men destroy their usefulness and comfort by pursuing this same phantom that I shall wait until it materializes more substantially before I allow it to take possession of my thoughts." Being myself a Minnesotian, I hardly feel that I am competent to treat this part of my subject. I can only say that if the republican party thinks it prudent to select its presidential candidate from so small and sure a state as Minnesota, with unbroken unanimity that state will present the name of William Windom.

If a new element shall be thrust into this canvass, it will be the non-sectarian amendment, which is the old "school question" carried out to its logical fullness. Under those circumstances, another candidate for the nomination may appear in the person of Senator Edmunds, who, though mentioned last, is the peer of all his associates. In no proper sense, and by no action of theirs, can Mr. Windom or Mr. Edmunds be called candidates for the nomination. I have included them in this list simply because their names are frequently connected with the subject of the presidency in the gossip of the capital.

THE MAINE OUTRAGE.

There can be but one explanation of this, the most glaring fraud of the century. Its object is not merely or mainly to secure the state offices, as such, but to secure them so as to use them in counting out the electoral vote of Maine next year which will surely be republican. To what does all these high-handed, shameless outrages tend? There is but one answer—blood. Obedience to the forms of law is deep in the Yankee nature, but deeper still is his determination not to submit to injustice. Ere long the north will again flame with a white heat, and then there will be no cooling thereof until every man's every right is sheltered directly under the national constitution. And no cry against a "paternal government" will prevent this result.

COMMITTEES.

Your readers may be interested in knowing how the representatives of the coast are distributed among the committees. Senator Grover is chairman of the committee on manufactures, of which committee Mr. Sutherland is clerk. The senator is also a member of the following committees, viz.: Public lands and railroads; Mr. Slater, of agriculture, Indian affairs, patents and territories. Gov. Whiteaker, of Indian affairs and revolutionary pensions, of which latter committee he is the chairman. Delegate Ainslie, of Idaho, also belongs to the committee on Indian affairs, so if those affairs are not settled to your liking, it will not be because you have not had a hearing awarded unto you. It is customary to give only four of the 8 delegates from the territories places on committees, so Mr. Brents of Washington is left without a position. His democratic associate from Arizona, and his republican associates from New Mexico and Wyoming are in the same fix, so you can see that this is not a custom based upon partisan distinctions.

Further disturbances are expect at Herat, and a brigade of English troops will embark at Bombay immediately for Bolan Pass.

Wagner, the composer, who has been reported dangerously ill, left Bayreuth for Naples, where he will spend the remainder of the winter.

The prevailing opinion in political circles at Madrid is that when the cortes again meets Premier Canovas De Castillo will endeavor to induce the minority to return to their seats in the chamber of deputies.

CENTRAL AMERICA.

Inter-Oceanic Canal.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—A World's special from Panama dated 5th, says: The festivities at this place came to an end to-day with what they call here a grand federal banquet. There were 150 guests present, among them the officers of a French man-of-war, sent up expressly from Callao to do honor and give the moral support of the French government to Lesseps in his enterprise.

Col. Tatler, an American engineer, who endorsed the project of Lesseps at the Paris congress last year, and who came here to meet him, will leave Panama in a few days. He has been designated an honorary engineer of the canal of Chagres, but the only American engineer to be employed on it will be M. Wright. The survey began practically to-day.

I have had an interview to-day with Mr. Dircks, the famous Amsterdam engineer, who appears to have chief charge of the work. He will probably propose a great sluice and dam across the Matachin and then a subsidiary canal straightening the Chagres river. The work he proposes will add about one tenth to estimated expenses of the canal. Colonel Totter has full confidence in this plan.

The Star and Herald to-day is quite truculent. In an article on the action of the United States congress concerning the canal, it says that there are only two things to be considered in connection with the enterprise, the money to build the canal and the local consent of the government of New Grenada. The assumption of any control over that matter by the United States is arrogant and outrageous.

The Voz de Cuba especially denies the rumor that Marco and Vicente Garcia have landed on the island.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JAN. 7, 1880.

THE PARTY CONVENTIONS AND ELECTIONS.

The approach of another national republican convention gives interest to the history of the party, its quadrennial gatherings and the support which it has been given by the people. The first national convention of the party was held at Pittsburg on the 22d of February, 1856. It was devoted to consultation mainly, no nominations being made. The first convention for the nomination of candidates met at Philadelphia, June 17, 1856. Colonel Henry S. Lane of Indiana presided. General Fremont was nominated for president on the first ballot, receiving 359 votes to 196 for John McLean of Ohio. William L. Dayton of New Jersey was nominated for vice president, his principal competitor being Abraham Lincoln. Dayton received 259 votes, Lincoln 110. The candidates were defeated, receiving the electoral votes of Connecticut, Iowa, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, New York, Ohio, Rhode Island, Vermont and Wisconsin—114 votes to 179 for Buchanan and 8 for Fillmore. The popular vote was 1,341,514 for Fremont, 1,838,232 for Buchanan and 884,707 for Fillmore. The convention of 1860 was held at Chicago, May 16th. David Wilmot, of Pennsylvania, was chosen temporary chairman, and George Ashmun of Massachusetts, president. Abraham Lincoln, on the third ballot, received within 2½ votes enough to nominate him. Before the result was announced changes were made which gave him 354 out of the 466 votes of the convention. On motion of Wm. M. Evarts, seconded by John A. Andrews, the nomination was made unanimous. Hannibal Hamlin was nominated for vice-president on the second ballot. The other leading candidate for the place was Cassius M. Clay. Lincoln and Hamlin were elected, receiving 180 electoral votes, to 72 for Breckinridge and Lane, 39 for Bell and Everett and 12 for Douglas and Johnson. The popular vote stood, Lincoln, 1,865,913; Douglas, 1,374,664; Breckinridge, 847,404; Bell, 591,900.

The third convention—"the Union National Convention," as it was called, assembled at Baltimore, June 7, 1864. Rev. Robert J. Breckinridge, D. D., of Kentucky, was made temporary chairman, and ex Governor William Dennison, of Ohio, permanent president. The rebel states were not represented. Henry J. Raymond reported the platform. Lincoln was renominated on the first ballot. He received the votes of all the delegates save those from Missouri, who named Gen. Grant. Andy Johnson, on the first ballot, received 200 votes for vice president, to 108 for Daniel S. Dickinson, 150 for Hannibal Hamlin and 59 scattering. On the second ballot Johnson was nominated. The republican candidates received 212 electoral votes to 21 for McClellan and Pendleton, the states in rebellion, having 81 electoral votes, not being represented in the college. The popular vote stood: Lincoln, 2,216,067; McClellan, 1,808,725.

The national convention of 1868 met at Chicago, May 20th. Carl Schurz was temporary chairman and General Hawley presided. On the first ballot for president, 650 votes were cast, of which General Grant received 650. Five ballots were taken for vice president, the fifth ballot being as follows: Colfax, 224; Wade, 190; Fenton, 138; Wilson, 61; Hamlin, 19. The unanimous nomination of Colfax followed. The electoral vote stood, Grant 214, to 80 for Seymour and 23 vacancies from unreconstructed states. The popular vote was, Grant, 3,015,071; Seymour, 2,709,613. The national convention of 1872 met at Philadelphia June 5th. Morton McMichael of Pennsylvania, was temporary chairman, and Thomas Settle, of North Carolina, presided. Gen. Grant was nominated on the first ballot, receiving all the votes of all the states, 752 in all. Henry Wilson was nominated for vice president on the first ballot, 384½ votes being cast for him, and 321½ for Colfax. In the election the electoral vote stood, Grant, 286, to 42 for Hendricks; Gratz Brown, 18; C. J. Jenkins, 2; David Davis, 1; not counted, 17. The electors who cast these votes, except those for Grant, were chosen to vote for Greeley, who had died before the college met. The popular vote had been, Grant, 3,597,070; Greeley, 2,834,079, and for Black 5,608.

The national convention of 1876 was held at Cincinnati June 14th. Ex-Senator Pomeroy, of New York, was temporary chairman and Edward McPherson, of Pennsylvania, presided. Rutherford B. Hayes was nominated for the presidency on the seventh ballot, the vote standing: Hayes, 384; Blaine, 351; Bristow, 21. William A. Wheeler was nominated for vice president, receiving 340 votes as against 68 for General Woodford, 60 for Marshall Jewell, and 41 for Mr. Frelinghuysen. In the electoral college Hayes and Wheeler received 185 votes to 184 for Tilden and Hendricks. The popular vote stood: Hayes, 4,033,975; Tilden, 4,284,893; Cooper, 81,740; Smith, 9522; scattering, 2836.

THE PEOPLE PAY.

In the discussions which have been carried on concerning our fire department the insurance men have generally taken a very active part while the parties most directly interested have had little or nothing to say. There is further a very common impression that the efficient organization of the fire department is a matter which only or chiefly concerns the insurance companies, and if fire insurance were like any other business this would be the case. The insurance companies nominally assume the risk of the destruction of property, and they are supposed to pay the losses, and thus to have the largest interest in the prompt suppression of a fire. As a matter of fact, however, it is the policy-holders, not the underwriters, who pay the losses. If these have been serious, the companies combine to increase the premiums, to recover their outlay in the shortest possible time, so that it really makes little difference to them, in the long run, whether property is safe or not. On the contrary, a feeling of insecurity rather tends to increase their business and their profits, fire insurance being commonly "mutual" as regards the payment of losses, but not as to the division of gains. And even if it were otherwise, there are losses and discomforts and even personal perils against which no insurance can provide, so that it would be impossible for any distinct interest or class to relieve the community, as a whole, from the need of scrutinizing closely the public provision for the prompt extinguishment of fires.

THE PLACE FOR THE CONVENTION.

THE OREGONIAN does not hold itself responsible for the opinions of its correspondents, but gives place to all communications it deems expedient to publish or which are worthy of being laid before the public. Hence we present the suggestions of "40" as to the place for holding the next republican state convention. That the objections which "40" presents to Portland, Salem or Albany as the place for the convention have the weight which he attaches to them we hardly believe, but there can be no doubt that it might have a very considerable influence if the convention was held at The Dalles, and if upon due consideration of the subject, the central committee should find that the reasons which our correspondent suggests are overbalancing, we hope the conclusion will be to hold it east of the mountains. While Portland would be preferable for some reasons, as, convenience of access, commodious places for meeting and hotel accommodations, we have no doubt that the republicans east of the Cascades would be glad to have the convention at The Dalles and would be encouraged to more earnest work in support of the ticket were it held there. The committee is composed of men who fully understand the questions that will come before it, and we have no doubt it will settle them in the way that will be most conducive to the success of the party in the coming contest.

The receipts of grain and flour at the western and lake ports during 1879, consisted of 6,458,798 barrels of flour and 260,860,113 bushels of grain. These figures represent a large increase on the receipts of previous years, which consisted, in 1878, of 5,422,282 barrels of flour and 215,834,831 bushels of grain; in 1877, of 4,728,677 barrels of flour and 161,875,799 bushels of grain; and in 1876, of 5,263,057 barrels of flour and 165,670,587 bushels of grain. The main portion of this increase, however, was in the movement of the old crop rather than in the movement of the crop of this year, as the receipts at the western lake and river points, during the period from August 1st to December 6th, consisted, in 1879, of 2,840,935 barrels of flour and 119,987,299 bushels of grain, while the corresponding receipts in 1878 were 2,425,621 barrels of flour and 111,659,432 bushels of grain. The receipts at seaboard ports, from January 1st to December 6th, 1879, consisted of 10,444,156 barrels of flour and 293,505,405 bushels of grain. The corresponding receipts were, in 1878, 9,128,756 barrels of flour and 238,614,760 bushels of grain; in 1877, 7,890,165 barrels of flour and 157,474,733 bushels of grain; and in 1876, 9,480,849 barrels of flour and 157,724,429 bushels of grain.

One of the incidental signs of the revival of prosperity is the fact that the number of immigrants arriving at New York during the twelve months ending November 30, 1879, was 134,058, while the number during the preceding year was 81,455. During November, 1879, 15,295 immigrants arrived, while the number of immigrants who arrived during November, 1878, was only 5,852. This increase may be attributable, in a slight degree, to changes in the industrial or political condition of the countries from which the immigrants sailed, but it is mainly due to the improvement in the general condition of the United States, and an increase in the demand here for laborers of various classes, and especially skilled artisans. Of the immigrants arriving in November 3437 were from England and 3731 from Germany, a considerable portion of whom are doubtless proficient workers in some of the important departments of manufactures.

In rebuke of the loud-mouthed Bourbon orator of the south, who talks about "our enemies of the north," the Vicksburg Herald says that their northern enemies have "a curious way of treating us when we get into trouble. If fire, or flood, or famine, or pestilence should distress us, 'our enemies of the north' would pour out millions of treasure for our relief. This is in accordance with the best teachings of all religions, and should convince all impartial people to regard it as the act of a friend instead of an enemy."

The defiant tone of the speeches made by leading Mormons at Salt Lake a day or two ago will not increase the chances for a smoothing over of the question of enforcing the laws against polygamy. If the administration intends to put down this "twin relic" it ought to begin on these men who thus seditiously endeavor to encourage this violation of the law. Apostles Taylor and Smith and Delegate Cannon would be good subjects for the government to tackle in the outset.

The New York World is beginning to boom pretty lively for Bayard, but the Illinois editors held a meeting in Chicago the other day, and they seemed inclined toward Mr. English, of Connecticut, he having, as one of them stated, "$7,000,000 of money and knows how to use it."

45 Years Before the Public.

THE GENUINE
DR. C. McLANE'S
CELEBRATED
FOR THE CURE OF
Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,
DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros. of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

"Digital manipulations" is one of the phrases recently invented by a reporter in speaking of a pickpocket

They were out driving. Said Theodore "What tree, Angelina bears the most precious fruit?" Angelina "Oh Dear I can't tell unless it's a cherry tree" Theodore looked unutterable sweetness as he gazed into Angelina's eyes and said "The axle tree darling"

A clothes line is a harmless thing
When stretched from pole to pole

And step into a hole
Then, as you make a forward lunge
It stops you so to speak
And throws you down and jerks you to

This is leap year, and the indications are favorable that the matrimonial market will be lively this season because of—

A bunch of flowers
A book or two
A little billing
A little coo
A little coming

A CHRISTMAS CELEBRATION ON THE SAGEBRUSH PLAINS

IN CAMP IN NORTHEASTERN WASHINGTON
December 25, 1879

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The members of the N P R R engineering party twelve in number celebrated Christmas with all the ceremonies common to more civilized localities One or two of the party arranged the affair as a grand surprise, and when upon assembling at the cook tent at a summons from the dinner bell all were astonished at its cheerful holiday aspect In the center was a huge sage bush—the first perhaps that ever did duty as a Christmas tree—rigged out with lavish splendor and swaying beneath its load of handsome presents A master of ceremonies was chosen and upon unloading the tree it was found that each member of the company from the chief of party to the cook had been remembered by thoughtful old Santa Claus The character of the men engaged in this enterprise may be judged from the presents and I think the showing is highly creditable to the intelligence and taste of the party. There were copies of Byron Burns, Shakespeare and Scott a beautifully bound encyclopedia a rare steel engraving a gold pen silver napkin ring silver medal a silver snuff box and a gold lined tobacco box—the last two in thoughtful remembrance of the favorite vices of the chief of party and the assistant teamster

Our Christmas on the sagebrush plains will long be remembered ONE OF THE PARTY

WM. SCHEFFLER'S ST. HELENA

SANITARY, VACUUM DISTILLED GRAPE BRANDY AND GOOD OLD EDGE HILL WINES

Mr Scheffler is sole proprietor of the principle known as the vacuum process of distilling, by which the fusil oils are left with the residue and not incorporated with the brandy leaving it pure and free from all deleterious substances which does and must exist in all alcoholic liquors distilled by the usual process of boiling heat California Physicians have pronounced their preference of it to all other Doctor Cox government revenue officer at Cincinnati Ohio says in his report that after ten years of close investigation he can safely say that very few if any pure wines or brandy are exported from the Old Continent to this He has found none in his many analyses—that all are doctored before leaving France. The French Consul at Buenos Ayres writes home to his government that so much complaint is made there of the appearance of litharge and other dangerous drugs in all their French wines that there is great danger of losing the trade of the Argentine States Other proofs could be cited were it necessary to prove the superiority of the best class of California wines and brandy Orders from responsible parties addressed to Wm Scheffler (Sec) H Beach St Helena Napa county Cal will receive prompt attention

THE DEATH-RATE OF

Our country is getting to be fearfully alarming the average of life being lessened every year without any reasonable cause, death resulting generally from the most insignificant origin At this season of the year especially a cold is such a common thing that in the hurry of every day life we are apt to overlook the dangers attending it and often find too late that a Fever or Lung trouble has set in Thousands lose their lives in this way every winter, while had Boschee's German Syrup been taken a cure would have resulted and a large bill from a doctor been avoided For all diseases of the Throat and Lungs Boschee's German Syrup has proven itself to be the greatest discovery of its kind in medicine Every Druggist in this country will tell you of its wonderful effect Over 950,000 bottles sold last year without a single failure known

Dem the Times A serious accident occurred on Yankee creek in Chimney Rock precinct Jackson county on Dec 29th by which Joseph Hess an old resident of that section, came to a horrible death From what can be learned it seems that he was engaged in cutting down a tree for his stock to browse upon in which he was assisted by Reeves his brother in law Hess who had an arm amputated some time since was unable to gauge his strokes, and while making one his foot slipped on the frozen ground and he fell forward under Reeves sharp ax, which was descending at the time and struck the unfortunate man on the head almost cleaving it in twain Reeves turned him on his back and started for the house (about 200 yards distant) for water, but before he returned Hess had breathed his last These are about the circumstances of the affair as they were narrated by Reeves who came to town soon afterward for the coroner

Salem Statesman There was a rumor on the streets on Monday of this week to the effect that Mr Higly a gardener living some three miles out of Salem was drowned Mr Higly owned a farm not far from Stayton in this county to reach which place it is necessary to cross the Santiam river The last seen of Mr Higly he was going in the direction of his farm driving a span of horses with another tied behind the wagon This was about two weeks ago On Sabbath last some parties found the wagon and the horse that was tied behind the wagon some two miles and a half below the ford where they had evidently drifted The team of horses and the body of Mr H were not found but it is supposed that while attempting to ford the river which was somewhat swollen, that the current carried the team into deep water where all were drowned The prolonged absence of Mr Higly caused no great alarm to his family, living near Salem supposing that he was at work on his farm

WOODWARD, McQUISTON & BRADSHAW

Have determined to clear out the remainder of their stock of

WINTER AND FANCY DRY GOODS

At an unprecedented sacrifice, previous to taking stock. While other merchants, after business hours, were enjoying the comforts of home or sleeping on the pillows of down, we were hard at work up to the wee small hours of morning reducing and re-marking our entire stock. We wish to impress on the inhabitants of Portland and surrounding country that we have not made reductions in the way usually adopted by merchants, as marking down a few well known classes of goods, such as Muslins, Sheetings, Canton Flannels, Calicoes, etc., in order to throw out a bait to the unwary and impress them with the idea that their whole stock is reduced in like manner, but will in reality make more than what they lose on the baits. Not so with us. We have taken Department after Department, piece after piece, and made the pen of reduction sweep through them as chaff before the wind. Remember,

This Sale will Only Last for Twenty Days,

As at the end of that time we take stock, and we must have room for our immense Spring stock, which will commence to arrive immediately after.

COLUMBIA

A NATIONAL SONG FOUNDED ON AMERICAN HISTORY

[illegible]

COLUMBIA First and fairest gem
Of Nature's brow—a diadem
Whose [illegible] the brightest heavenly star
The light of freedom sheds afar
Like Noah's ark [illegible] sent back
In search of land through day and dark
First found thee held by Nature's [illegible]
The red man in his wigwam wild

II

COLUMBIA Soon the tidings spread
Of what Columbus saw and said
The eyes of men then turned to thee
The new land rising from the sea
[illegible] spread his sail before the gale
To verify the wondrous tale
And thus began what was to be
The hope and home of Liberty

III

COLUMBIA In thine early days
Our pilgrim fathers sang thy praise
They landed from the Mayflower's deck
On Plymouth rock—a snow clad speck
That marks the place from whence the race
Of English [illegible] their true blood trace
Who fought in independence war
With hearts of steel that knew no fear

IV

COLUMBIA 'Twas in fire and blood
Brave Washington the foremost stood
With banner high and sword in hand
He drove the tyrant from the land
Thy breast still sore to thy heart's core
Till washed again in human gore—
[illegible] shed not in vain —
It left thee whole without a stain

V

COLUMBIA! See, what thou art now
A crown of stars on Nature's brow
With fields of gold and teeming marts
With fifty million loving hearts
Who cling to thee, from sea to sea
To guard thy PEACE and LIBERTY
Who man to man shall e'er be just,
And in the Lord place all their trust

VI

COLUMBIA Lift thine eyes on high
See HIM who dwells in yonder sky
The King of Glory on His Throne
Who looks on all for all's His own
Our earthly gain would be in vain
A home in Heaven to attain
If with our hearts we did not pay
Our debt to him —Then let us pray

VII

At morn, at noon, at eventide
O Lord! be ever at our side
That we Thy voice may always hear
And feel that Thou art ever near
In mercy spare, from grief and care
The Nation, bowed in fervent prayer
Who ask, with reverent love and awe,
GOD BLESS AND SAVE AMERICA

NOTE.—The selection of verses to be sung should be appropriate to the occasion the 3rd, 4th and 5th will answer for patriotic or political purposes, the 3rd 5th and 7th for general use, and the 6th and 7th for religious services.

THE NEXT STATE CONVENTION.

WASHINGTON COUNTY, Jan 5 1880

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The republican state central committee will soon meet The place of holding the coming state convention will be announced at this meeting Assuming that this question has not already been decided and that such announcement is not a mere formal promulgation of a predetermined fact, permit me, through your columns, to suggest to our committee the propriety of holding the next state convention of the republican party at the Dalles.

The rapid growth of that section of country and its suddenly acquired agricultural and commercial importance invest it with a peculiar interest The republicans have never held a state convention east of the mountains. Possibly because that section has been considered irredeemably democratic, but it should be remembered that in each of the eastern counties there is a band of faithful republican workers, who have fought the fight and kept the faith under very discouraging circumstances. Their fidelity should be recognized and encouraged.

Besides, it is probable that many of the old pioneers of this valley, by whom the convention will be largely composed, would rather enjoy a trip up the Columbia river. Many of them have not revisited that country since the days when they passed through it as immigrants. It will be hard for them to realize that the country which the Argonauts rejected as worthless, has even now become the corner stone of the empire of the northwest, but the conclusion is inevitable

The trip will do the delegates good, while the meeting of the convention there will contribute to unify the party and the people of the state.

In addition to the "bluest of skies" and "the best climate in the world," The Dalles now boasts hotel accommodations inferior to none in the state. The people of the bunch grass country are generous and hospitable, the navigation company, ever liberal, will be reasonable in the matter of fares,—what more can be asked?

Were the selection confined to the consideration of towns only, it would have to be conceded that Portland, as the metropolis of the state, as a place for the meeting of the convention, has advantages which cannot be overestimated. There are, however, grave objections to its selection It must be borne in mind that in the smaller towns, and remoter counties of the state, there is a prejudice against Portland which is as unreasonable as it is deep seated. Should the convention be held in Portland, this jealously will assert itself while still more to be dreaded will be the suspicion that the convention, in such case, will be manipulated and controlled by rings, federal, personal and corporate.

Of course, Salem's claims must be considered. She has the Chemeketa hotel and the opera house, to be sure! and Marion county is a grand old stalwart worthy of all honor. But Salem has the reputation of having a republican as well as a democratic "cli-que" whose influence over conventions, in the present temper of the people, is sure to be resented. Nor can it be forgotten that our last convention was held at Salem,—the disastrous defeat which overwhelmed a portion of the ticket may be not remotely connected with that fact and its attending influence It is unnecessary to speak of Albany's claims Reminiscences of a convention once held there, are neither inspiriting nor pleasant

By all means, then, gentlemen of the committee, give our inland empire a recognition, give the different sections a chance to fraternize and to be liberalized by association, give Eastern Oregon the convention, and there, under her sunshiny skies, in an atmosphere free from the sinister influence of scheming rings, let the wisdom and patriotism of the party, in convention assembled, give us a ticket which will be elected because it deserves to be. In such event victory will not fail us. 49

LONDON, Jan 6 —The Daily Telegraph vouches for the trustworthiness of the communication dated Koenigsburg December 31 asserting that the distribution of the Russian army shows a striking convergence towards the western portion of the empire and that Russia's effective forces are being increased in far greater proportions than will be justified by the object of filling vacancies left by the Russo Turkish war Within the past few weeks the strong force already quartered in the western portion has been increased by four divisions of infantry and one of cavalry This raises the force along the western frontier to nearly one half the entire Russian army on a peace footing Extensive measures of reorganizations and improvement are proceeding in all departments

The two story frame dwelling in the rear [illegible] street between Powell and Mason took fire about 3 A M Mrs Haskins, her daughter Annie aged [illegible], Edward aged 4, and infant Adelaide perished in the flames The origin of the fire is not yet determined but attendant circumstances render it strange that such a fire could have occurred Mrs Haskins [illegible] her oldest son Fred left home to go to work after breakfast Mrs Haskins went to her chamber which was on the second floor front Annie and the baby were still in bed in the back chamber Thomas the second boy went to his mother's room and saw her and Eddy lying on the bed together He then went down stairs and in a few moments heard his mother cry help and fire He ran up stairs [illegible] found the fire barred his way He [illegible] into the front yard he saw his mother standing at the window of her room The apartment seemed to be in a blaze He tried to raise a ladder to the window but before he could do so saw his mother fall The house burned like tinder and although the alarm was at once sounded the building was almost entirely consumed before the fire department arrived The bodies were found in the ruins burned out of all semblance to humanity and removed to the morgue The only theory offered for the origin of the fire is that Eddy was probably playing with matches as he was in the habit of doing when opportunity offered and set the bed clothing and other light material in the room on fire

MARK LANE WHEAT REPORT.

Returns from Every County in England, Worst Crop Reports Ever Published.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN]

LONDON, Jan 5 —The Mark Lane Express annual crop returns from 441 correspondents representing every county in England, fully confirms the worst accounts regarding the serious failure of the crops The Express says The returns are the most discouraging we have ever published Of 420 districts from which returns have been collected not one produced wheat or pea crop of over average Only 7 represent a barly crop, and only 6 a bean crop, as over the average, Oats is the only crop that is thoroughly bad An examination of 10 years tables will show that we have had the worst oat crops and as bad a bean crop, but for wheat barley and peas, there has been no year of the 10—and we might go further back—nearly so unfruitful. Even with respect to oats and beans if weight and quality be taken into account no year of the 10 has given such bad results. As to wheat the disastrous failure of the crop is most strikingly shown by the fact that only 4 out of 429 returns represent it as up to average The remarks of our correspondents as to the condition of grain and pulse are as disheartening as the accounts of the yield
